Polyglass® Manufactures Kool Roof Solutions for the Energy-Conscious

(Fernley, NV)— Polyglass® USA, a leading manufacturer of modified bitumen roofing products, now offers its Kool Roof Solutions Package, which includes its Polykool, Polybianko and Polyfresko self-adhesive roofing membranes. These high-performance white membranes are designed to provide superior reflectivity and energy efficiency for low-slope roofing applications.

Manufactured with patented ADESO® dual-compound technology, Polyglass' Kool Roof Solution membranes combine a top ply of APP modified bitumen compound with a self-adhesive bottom ply, providing unmatched durability and waterproofing protection. This self-adhesive technology also provides a safe, easy and efficient application, eliminating the need for fasteners and other installation accessories.

Polykool, Polybianko and Polyfresko also incorporate a unique, high-performance fiberglass-reinforced polyester mat, manufactured with recycled content, which provides superior dimensional stability and enhanced puncture resistance.

Polyglass' Kool Roof Solutions not only provide enhanced performance and durability, they are also environmentally friendly, featuring highly reflective white surfaces that not only improve the aesthetic appearance of a building but also reduce energy consumption, helping to minimize the heat island effect. Because of their enhanced energy efficiency, these membranes are ENERGY STAR®-rated, CRRC-listed and California Title 24-compliant, and can significantly contribute toward LEED® credit requirements.

Consistently pursuing eco-friendly, energy-efficient innovation, Polyglass further enhanced The Complete Package by recently introducing its Polybrite and PG 700 lines of white, reflective coatings to its manufacturing capabilities.

With its Kool Roof Solutions, Polyglass manufactures products for virtually any application, offering superior performance, enhanced efficiency and long-term durability. Polyglass' Kool Roof Solutions is one more way that Polyglass offers The Complete Package for all of your roofing needs.
